

BANK OF BOTSWANA

Press Release

OLD TWO PULA COIN IN CIRCULATION

The public is hereby reminded that both the older and newer P2 coins dated 1994 and 2005, respectively, are legal tender and should, therefore, continue to be accepted interchangeably in payment for goods and services everywhere in the country. The older P2 coin is bigger and heavier than the newer one.

The Bank further requests members of the public to desist from hoarding coin as that may create shortages that have a negative impact on commercial transactions. Members of the public and the business community in general should, therefore, deposit any coin in their possession, and for which they have no immediate need, with commercial banks. Where possible, coin can be exchanged for equivalent value in banknotes at the Bank of Botswana or at commercial banks.
